A's View

B's View

A: I see three in a line going up and to the right. The middle one is the largest and darkest

B: I don't see that. I have one large, medium gray dot that's under a small, darker gray dot

A: Is the larger dot slightly to the left

B: yes, slightly, let's choose the larger one

B: I see a small light grey dot, that moves very quickly. It ends to the right of three larger, darker dots. ()

A: i think that one moves off my view. do you have two medium sized dark dots on top of one another at the start, with the upper one being a bit smaller and off to the left? they both move down and to the right ()

B: Yes, I think so. But the one that started off on the left moves very slowly? And another lighter grey one ends up almost in between them? ()

A: yes can you pick the slower moving one?

A selects:

A: do you still see the same one?

B: Nope, it barely squeaked out of view. But a larger black ball comes towards the left into view. Do you see it? It probably crosses underneath our old one. ()

A: yes
